Fix our crumbling infrastructure –
Before it's too late

"As we await the State of the Union this evening, ReBuild USA and its 400,000 activists are hopeful that leaders in Washington, DC will finally take action with a true bipartisan effort to fix our nation's crumbling infrastructure," says Lori D'Orazio, National Political Director of ReBuild USA. "Americans are in danger because of crumbling roads, deficient bridges, failing water and energy systems, dilapidated schools and airports that need structural modernization, and an out-of-date electrical grid. We urge all our elected leaders in Washington to support a plan that is broad, robust, sustainable, efficient, and includes safety standards for our workers and make infrastructure a real priority this year — before it is too late."
